24th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Sunday Readings

First Reading: (Sirach 27:30, 28:7) Written in 2 BC, Sirach is one of the "Catholic" or so-called "extra" books in the Old Testament, considered "apocryphal" or non-canonical for Jews and Protestants. This section stresses the importance of forgiveness and the difficulty in extending it. Anger, wrath, and revenge hardly reflect divine, covenant qualities of compassion and mercy. How can one expect to receive mercy if one does not give it?

Second Reading: (Romans 14:7-9) In the challenging diversity of the early church, Paul brought wise pastoral guidance. He implores Christians to respect one another's consciences and to focus on what binds us together: whether we fast or eat, whether we live or die, agree or disagree with one another, we "live in the Lord." In all situations, we belong to Christ's lordship, so we neither fear nor judge others, but adore and give thanks and praise for the Lord's own offering of his life for our sake.

Gospel: (Matthew 18:21-35) In echoing Sirach's words from the first reading, Jesus makes his point very bluntly in this parable: the indispensable condition for being forgiven is to forgive others. This is a perennial warning to the church, then and now, that the ultimate value does not lie in displaying an inflexible law-driven rigidity, but in a generous spirit of love and joy which calls forth an equally generous response in others.

Forgive... Even When It Hurts!

In this Sunday's Gospel, Peter asks Jesus, "How often must I forgive?" Jesus' answer is basically: Stop counting!

Apparently, forgiveness doesn't come with a calculator—or a limit of "three strikes and you're out." 😊

We love being forgiven by God, but sometimes we keep a very detailed record of what everyone else has done to us. Jesus reminds us that the mercy we receive from God is the mercy we are called to give to others.

This week, perhaps we can put down the scorecard, forgive someone, and remember mercy is always a better investment than resentment!

The Exaltation of the Holy Cross — September 14

On September 14, the Church celebrates the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross. At first, it may seem like a strange thing to celebrate. Why would we celebrate an instrument of suffering and death?

Because for Christians, the Cross is no longer simply a symbol of suffering.

The Cross is the place where God revealed the depth of His love for us.

Jesus did not save us by avoiding suffering. He saved us by entering into it and transforming it through His love. What appeared to be defeat became victory. What looked like death became the doorway to Resurrection.

The feast also reminds us of the importance of the Cross in the history of our faith. The Cross of Christ was recovered in Jerusalem in the fourth century and became a treasured sign of the Christian faith. But the feast is not really about a piece of wood. It is about the Person who was nailed to it.

Every time we make the Sign of the Cross, we proclaim something beautiful: we belong to Christ. We place our lives under the sign of His saving love.

And perhaps this feast gives us an important question to consider: What do we do with the crosses in our own lives?

We all carry them—illness, disappointment, loneliness, family struggles, grief, uncertainty, or simply the daily sacrifices that love requires. The Christian answer is not that suffering is good in itself. Rather, we are invited to unite our suffering with Christ and allow His love to transform it.

The Cross reminds us that God can bring new life even out of the things we would never have chosen for ourselves.

So when you see a crucifix this week, don't see only suffering. See love, mercy, forgiveness, sacrifice, hope—and the promise of Resurrection.

As Jesus tells us in the Gospel:

“When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw everyone to myself.” (John 12:32)

May the Cross of Christ always be at the centre of our homes, our families, our parish, and our lives.

Fr. Marius Sztuk, SDS

Our Lady of Sorrows — September 15

The day after we celebrate the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, the Church remembers Our Lady of Sorrows. It is a beautiful and deeply human memorial that invites us to look at the Cross through the heart of Mary.

Mary knew what it meant to love someone deeply and to suffer because of that love. From the beginning of Jesus' life, she remained faithful to God, even when she did not understand everything that was happening. And at the foot of the Cross, she stood there as a mother watching her Son suffer and die.

Mary could not take Jesus' suffering away. She could not change what was happening. But she stayed. She remained beside Him when almost everyone else had disappeared.

That is one of the most powerful things Mary teaches us.

Sometimes we cannot fix another person's suffering. We cannot take away their illness, grief, loneliness, or pain. But we can stay. We can listen. We can pray. We can hold someone's hand. We can simply let them know, “You are not alone.”

Mary understands the pain of a mother's heart, the pain of loss, and the pain of watching someone she loves suffer. That is why we can turn to her with confidence in our own moments of sorrow.

The title “Our Lady of Sorrows” does not mean that Mary is a woman defined by sadness. Rather, her sorrow became an expression of her faith and love. She remained faithful even when the road became painful.

And there is hope at the heart of this memorial. Mary's story does not end at Calvary. The Cross leads to the Resurrection. Her sorrow is transformed by the joy of Christ's victory.

As we remember Our Lady of Sorrows, may we ask her to help us carry our own crosses with faith and to remain close to those who are suffering.

Our Lady of Sorrows, pray for us.

Fr. Marius Sztuk, SDS
